Principles related to the issue of Euthanasia and "Assisted Suicide"

God is the giver of life

God (alone) has the right to determine when and how a life will end
Therefore, suicide is morally wrong and foolish
Therefore, assisted suicide is also equally wrong

God has instituted Government (one of it's purposes is to punish evil doers, so as to promote peace in society; Capitol punishment by the government is allowed by God, for those convicted of premeditated murder; such sanctioned action will be a deterrent to such crime reoccurring at the rate they are in this country)

Theologically, the Holy Scriptures, make no other allowances for the termination of human life. On the contrary, every effort should be made to prolong human life so that each individual has the opportunity to hear the Gospel and believe on the Lord Jesus Christ for eternal salvation.

The Hippocratic oath (which is supposed to be upheld by all in the medical profession) is a vow taken by doctors to make every effort to sustain life (never to knowingly destroy it or terminate it.)

Euthanasia with it's sister Abortion are two manifestations of a self-centered society which has as one of it's unnamed goals to remove all "undesirables" who would interfere with their pursuit of pleasure and self-interest.

Since the elderly will need to provided for by the social security taxes they have paid, and since our spend thrift government perhaps has not been faithful in the handling of such tax income, and since America has aborted much of the future work force, there will not be enough FICA money to provide for the elderly. Therefore, a diabolical solution could be: Exterminate them! Such a scheme is so wicked!

Perhaps a Hitler mentality is beginning to infect this country. Kill off all people who would appear to be detrimental to the agenda. The Bible does predict a future Global Leader (known as the AntiChrist), who will seek to exterminate all Christians and Jews who refuse to go along with his agenda of attaining Global worship for himself. Perhaps the devaluing of human life which we see manifested through Abortion and Euthanasia is setting the stage and preparing the world for this future holocaust.

To escape pain (whether emotional or physical) there are other options, other than assisted suicide. Assisted suicide becomes a "quick fix" -- a quick way out of a problem, when there are other solutions. (Note: illegal drugs and alcohol abuse are two other bad choices people make to escape from their problems)
